CLARK ADDRESSES WOMAN'S LEAGUE

Tells Members of Organization That Merit is Highest Shaft.

NO STATUE TO WOMAN.

Would Mould Base as Large as Eternity With Pinnacle Piercing Through Clouds of Heaven.

Washington, June 3.—Addressing members of the Woman's National Democratic League at the New Willard last evening, Speaker Clark said:

"In surveying the city of Washington the eye of the visitor is struck by the marvelous beauty of the granite, bronze and marble statues erected to the heroes of the battlefield or the men who won achievement in other walks of life. There is not one statue to woman; and yet there never was a deed accomplished in history ,no matter how great, that did not have behind its maker the guiding influence of a good woman.

"The women should be recognized. If I had the building of a suitable statue to American womanhood, I would mold its base as large as eternity, for its shaft I would use the everlasting granite of truth, and I would build it so high that its piercing pinnacle should reach through the clouds into the fairest sanctuaries of heaven in order that the two maidens I would place thereon could whisper into the ears of God Almighty.

"In the hands of a maiden clad in blue I would place the Stars and Stripes, and the maid in gray should have the Stars and Bars, while the angelic choirs of seraphim and cherubim joined them in singing 'Yankee Doodle' and 'Dixie.'

The Speaker said he "knew the other 434 representatives in Congress like a book, and I don't believe there is a single man in the House whose vote can be influenced or changed by the use of money, not one."

Senator Vardaman of Mississippi, also spoke to the women of the league, who were celebrating the anniversary of the founding of their organization, and Senator Vardaman took more or less issue with the speaker upon the corruptability of men in public life.

"God give us men that money canot buy," said the Mississippian, who said that he believed that when women get into politics they will take more care than men of the individual child.

"When the interests of the child are involved in legislation, the maternal instinct will predominate, and she will throw her arms around it and portect it. I would rather rely on women's feelings than on the cold logic of men."

Norfolk, Va., June 3.—So far no trace has been found of ohn K. Ord, a prominent business man of Crewe, Va., who came here last week as a delegate to the State Convention of Knights of Pythias, and mysteriously disappeared on Thursday morning.

William McK. Woodhouse, of the local lodge, who was appointed to take the matter up with the police, and to direct all efforts to locate Ord, said last night that he had been unable to find the slightest trace of the missing man.He said he had hope that Ord had gone to Lawrenceville, Va., with a man named Davis, who had come to the convention from that city. Mr. Woodhouse said that he had learned that Davis was a great friend of Ord, and that it is just possible that the latter accompanied him home.

The regular monthly meeting of R. E. Lee Camp Confederate Veterans, was held at their hall last night. The committee on Memorial Day services made their report.

The camp received and accepted an invitation from the Seventeenth Virginia Regiment Chapter, U. D. C., to attend the exercises in their observance of the birthday of President Jefferson Davis this Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock at their hall.

The thanks of the camp were extended Miss Blanche Rotchford and her choir for their services on Memorial day in the following resolutions which were unanimously adopted:

Resolved: That the thanks of this camp are due to Miss Blanche Rotchford for the deep interest she takes in the effort of this camp to keep green the memory of our comrades who gave up their life for our cause, as is evidenced by the expenditure of her time and labor in the directing of the choir for our memorial services which she for the tenth time furnished on the 24th of May of this year. Their singing adds immensely to the solemn and impressiveness of these occasions.

It was also resolved, That the adjutant be instructed to hand a copy of the above resolution to Miss Rotchford and also to request the local papers to publish the same.

NEW INVASION OF STATE.

Millionaires of North and West Buying Estates in Virginia.

A writer in the Baltimore Evening Sun says

I must record that there is a new invasion in Virginia going on in these days—millionaires from the North and West who are buying estates in Virginia, attracted by the fine climate and genial life, and are building palatial homes in Old Virginia style. Albemarle county seems specially attractive to them. To be sure, it has many old places, such as Castle Hill, where the Princess Troubetskoy lives; Merry Mills, the estate of the chandlers; Redlands, the home of the Misses Carter (recently of St. Timothy's at Catonsville), and Mirador, the home of the beautiful Langhorne girls, Mrs. Chas. Dana Gibson and her sisters. But there are other superb new places, such as Tiverton, belonging to Frederick Owsley, of Chicago, with a home having 40 rooms and costing $600,000; Bloomfield, owned by Mr. Tatnall Lea, of Philadelphia, and many others. This new invasion is not without its good results.It adds new zest new interest and wealth and does not detract from the native Virginian's tremendous pride and worship of ancestors. There is something beautiful in his immortal pride, his artistic poverty, his splendid traditions.

APPOINTMENTS ARE APPROVED

Practically no Opposition to Selections at Democratic Caucus.

MAP OUT A PROGRAM.

Committees Will be Allowed to Hold Hearings and Vote on Scores of Bills Referred to Them.

Washington, June 3.—The present session of Congress, so far as the House is concerned, will be devoted to the tariff, currency reform, emergency appropriation bills, and committee meetings. The standing committees are instructed that they may begin work immediately, but no legislation favorably acted upon in committee will be taken up in the House proper before December. Speaker Clark predicted in caucus that the session will last until October 1.

House Democrats held a caucus yesterday afternoon to approve standing committee assignments and to map out a legislative program. There was practically no opposition to the selections made for the standing committees by the Ways and Means Committee. Mr. Underwood then presented a resolution to limit the activities of the session to an extent that the calendars will not be clogged with bills.

Committees were informed that they will be allowed to hold hearings and vote on the scores of bills already referred to them, but the measures will not be put on the calendar. A number of committees will begin work immediately. The caucus also abrogated for the present the rule creating a 'calendar to discharge committees," and the Rules Committee was instructed to bring in a rule of abrogation accordingly.

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE.

Night Robe and Roses Form Girl's Garb For Role.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 3.—Garbed in a pure white nightrobe and a bouquet of roses in her hand, 17-year-old Anna Naeg, of No. 1336 North Hancock street, attempted suicide yesterday afternoon by turning on the gas in her room. Near her was found a note stating: "I am tired of work." It is believed the girl's attempt to end her life was due to homesickness. She arrived here not long ago from Hungary, where her parents and relatives are still living.

Policemen investigated, and upon entering the girl's room found her unconscious on her bed, clasping in her hands a large bouquet of roses that friends at the cigar factory had given her. She was taken to St. Mary's hospital where she was revived by the use of a pulmotor.

LATE POET LAUREATE.

Entertained Pessimistic Views Concerning Great Britain.

Alfred Austin, late British laureate of England, since 1896, who died yesterday was an author of infinite industry and varied ability. Very little of his poetry exhibited any trace of inspiration, but much of it was graceful,and his description of country life and scenes were often extremely felicitious. As a political writer he was both polished and vigorous, and he was a fluent and effective speaker on many subjects, and he was in frequent demands for public meetings of a literary, political or social character.

In his later years he entertained very pessimistic views of the general outlook in Great Britain. In speaking at Leeds a year or two ago he declared that he noted a marked deterioration in good manners, a striking diminution of the sense of reverence, and an unfitting of scholars for one career in life without fitting them for any other. He denounced the gospel of "get on" in this world so universally and seduously preached. Among grave omissions in primary education, he said, was the total absence of inculcation by teachers of a love of country and of a readiness to fight in the defense. The books widely read by boys and girls were of a demoraliing character. He looked in vain for progress in this direction. On the contrary, he saw a deplorable deterioration. It was not the highest poetry alone, it was the highest prose literature as well, that was being neglected for the works of a glaring ly inferior kind.

ASSOCIATE EDITOR GETS A POSITION

Bryan's Partner in Commoner Made Head of Canal Government.

PAYS $14,000 A YEAR.

Richard L. Metcalfe Now in Line of Promotion to Governorship of Canal in The Future.

Washington, June 3.—Secretary of State Bryan today landed a job for his partner, Richard L. Metcalf, associate editor of the Commoner.

President Wilson agreed to appoint Metcalfe as head of civil government of the Panama Canal Zone, placing him in line for promotion to the governorship when the Zone is placed under civil service administration.

This office pays a salary of $14,000 a year. Mr. Metcalfe succeeded William J. Bryan as editor of the Omaha World-Herald, and when Mr. Bryan started the Commoner, Mr. Metcalfe became its editor.

The intention of the President to appoint Mr. Metcalf to this lucrative position indicates a purpose on his part not to carry into effect for some time the reorganization of the canal Zone government in accordance with the law enacted by the late Congress.

This law provides for the Canal Zone a purely civil government headed by a governor at a salary of $7,500 a year. President Taft planned to institute the new civil government and nominated Col. Geo. W. Goethals, chief engineer, of the canal, for governor, but the nomination was not confirmed.

The selection of Metcalf was made at a conference between the President and Secretaries Bryan, Garrison and Daniels. Metcalf was considered for a position on the Philippine commission. Thatcher, the present incumbent, was appointed from Kentucky.

JAPANESE RESENTMENT.

Nipon Would Withdraw Liners From California.

Tokyo, June 3.—The Japanese general public, that resents California alien land legislation, now is advocating the withdrawal of the Japanese subsidy liners from California. It became known today that the government has been requested to dock the vessels at Tacoma and Seattle, instead of San Francisco.

The government is embarrassed by the increasing demands of the people for demonstrations, in such ways, of Japan's resentment. Popular clamor i sagainst Japanese participation in the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco, while the government already has appropriated the money for an exhibit.

Alleged Confession.

"I alone am guilty of the crime for which Fred Nye is under sentence of death. I fired the fatal shot and planned to rob Miller. Nye did not know anything about it." declared David Everitt in a written confession today to District Attorney Strouss that it was he who murdered Henry E. Miller in Sunbury, Pa., last year and for which crime Frederick Nye is under sentence of death. Miller was found dead in his pool room with a bullet hole in his neck and the corpse had been robbed of $90. Nye and Everitt were arrested and at their trials each blamed the other. Nye was sentenced to be hanged and Everitt received a sentence of manslaughter for the crime. Everitt said that he could not sleep at night "because it worries me to think another boy is to die for a crime I alone committed."

Atlanta, Ga.—Another arrest has been made in connection with the Mary Phagan murder mystery. Minola McKnight, colored, was taken into custody as a "suspect."

LICENSE BILL HANGS FIRE

Both Boards of the City Council to Hold Special Meetings Tonight

President Brumback has called a special meeting of the Common Council for tonight for the purpose of acting on the annual licensee bill as amended by the Aldermen Friday night last.

Members of the lower board suggested that a meeting of the Board of Aldermen should be held at the same time, and President Marbury after consultation with members of the upper board concluded to issue a call for a special meeting at 8 o'clock tonight.

The liquor license sections of the new license bill are the subjects of considerable comment in the city. So far as could be learned today, there bas been virtually no change in the convictions of either side on the issue,those favoring high license standing by their guns, while others who have advocated a conservative course are still unmoved by the arguments which have been advanced by their opponents.

The City Council at its first meeting adopted as guide for its orderly proceedings "Jefferson's Manual of Practice."

At the last meeting of the Board of Aldermen Mr. Hill, as he stated, to facilitate the passage of the license law, offered a resolution suggesting a conference committee from the Common Council. It was also suggested that the resolution was out of order, as the request should come from the Common Council in case that body failed to agree with the amendments made to the law in the Board of Aldermen. Of course, there might be no objection to such a procedure, but in many cases it is well known in legislative bodies disagreements are known to exist between co-ordinate branches even before bills are presented. Jefferson's Manual, page 135 says:

"It is on the occasion of amendments between the houses that conferences are usually asked, but they may be asked in all cases of differences of opinion between the two houses on matters pending between them. The request for a conference must always be asked by the house which is possessed of the papers."

Again page 176:

"A conference may be asked before the house asking it has come to a resolution of disagreement, insisting or adhering—and several instances have arisen in the senate where a conference has been asked immediately upon the passage of the house bill with amendments and before the house has come to a disagreeing vote upon the Senate's amendments."

We read on page 54 Constitutional Manual and Digest where Jefferson is quoted:

"It is on the occasion of amendment between the houses that conferences are usually asked, but they may be asked in all cases of differences of opinion between the houses on matters pending between them."

Quoting again from Manual and Digest, page 354, we read as to conferences these words:

"The usual course of proceeding previous to a conference is for one house to disagree to the other's amendments and for the amending house to insist upon its amendments and ask a conference."

While it is the general custom to pass the license law before June 1st, when it goes into effect, yet several cases can be cited when it was not not passed until after June 1st. Two years ago, 1911, it was passed June 13th,and in 1879,not until June 25th. Perhaps a few day's rest will give everyone time to cool off.

Lewis H. Machen, of Alexandria, yesterday forwarded to the state democratic committee his fee of $35 to enter the democratic primary as a candidate for lieutenant-governor against J Taylor Ellyson, the present incumbent. The news of Mr. Machen's entry in the race came as a surprise to his friends here in Alexandria as well as to the politicians throughout the state. It was generally supposed that Mr. Ellyson would have no opposition.

Mr. Machen has taken no active interest in politics since his defeat for the state senatorship by Senator Thornton six years ago.

Among persons familiar with political conditions in the state Mr. Machen's candidacy is not taken seriously.

NEWS OF THE OLD DOMINION.

FOUND NEGRO IN ROOM.

Screams for Husband And Intruder Flees From House.

Richmond, June 3.—Awakened by the sound of someone moving about in her room early yesterday, Mrs. Jennie Sycle, 814 East Marshall street, took it for granted it was her husband and sleepily asked what he was doing.

The next instant a huge palm of a hand was claped across her mouth and Mrs. Sycle found a negro bending over her and whispering a warning to be still She struggled to free herself and managed to brush the hand aside for a moment and scream.

Her outcry and an immediate response from her husband, who was sleeping in an adjoining room, frightened the negro and he ran toward the rear of the house. He escaped through a kitchen door, by which he effected an entrance ,and which he had propped open for use in the event it was necessary to make a hurried exit.

Sycle is certain the negro was the same one who attempted to rob his home three month sago. On that occasion he saw the intruder clearly and would be able to identify him.

JUDGE RHEA'S SUCCESSOR.

Colonel Mann Has no Idea of Being Placed on the Corporation Commission.

Norfolk, Va., June 3.—"If Governor Mann has any idea of appointing me a member of the Corporation Commissioner I am not aware of it,' said Coolnel James Mann here today. "I do not even know that he does not intend to reappoint Judge Rhea. Furthermore, I don't believe Governor Mann ever had the remotest idea of appointing me and I can't imagine where such a areport originated. He has certainly neevr intimated such a thing to me, and I think I would be the rst person he would discuss the matter with if he was thinking about me in connection with the appointment. You may say for me that there is nothing whatever in the rumor."

Bristol, Va., June 3.—Intimate personal friends of Judge W. F. Rhea say that they cannot believe that Governor Mann will refuse to reappoint him Corporation Commissioner and appoint his nephew, Colonel James Mann, of Norfolk, to succeed the Bristolian when the latter's term expires in February. They say that it is the general understanding that Judge Rhea is to be reappointed, addin gthat his record on the bench entitles him to a second term. It is said that Senators Martin and Swanson will stand by Judge Rhea in any emergency, and that if Governor Mann has any regard for their wishes he will certainly reappoint Judge Rhea, who was appointed by Governor Swanson despite the fact that the appointment, many predicted at the time, would destroy Swanson's political future Judge Rhea has been an arednt supoprter of Judge Mann and although he has been out of the Ninth District several years, he is still generally regarded as the strongest facor in the democratic politics of the district he formerly represented in Congress.

Rhea's friends declare that there is no opposition to his reappointments from any source, and that the people want him continued on the bench—even those who opposed his confirmation.

Among the last of the official acts of oGvernor Mann beofre he retires from office will be the naming of a successor to Judge Rhea. The appointment will be made not later than January 15th of next year, the appointment to hold for six years from February 1st next.

FARMER KILLS HIMSELF.

Resident of Wytheville, Va., in Ill Health, Sends Bullet Through Heart.

Wytheville, Va., June 3.—Firing three shots into his breast, one of which penetrated his heart, and any one of which would have proved fatal, A. B. Stuart, brother of Mrs. A. A. Campbell and half-brother of Henry C. Stuart, committed suicide at his home here shortly after 9:30 o'clock Sunday night.

Mr. Stuart had been in ill health, and a year ago was compelled to give up the management of his farm in Wythe county and seek relief in hospitals, without any apparent show of imporvement. Several months ago Mr. Stuart's mind gave evidence of impairment, and later he suffered hallucinations, and it is thought he ended his life during one of those periods.

VALUABLE DOCUMENTS.

Deed Bearing Signature of Lord Fairfax—George Washington's Surveyor.

Gordonsville, Va., June 3.—In the estimation of data collectors, W. C. Baker, living in Gordonsville, is now the owner of two valuable documents of national importance. One is the deed bearing signature of Lord Fairfax in 1750, the survey done by Mr. G. Washington." The other deed is signed by Beverley Randolph in 1787, when the far-famed Colonial patriot was lieutenant-governor of the Commonwealth of Virginia.

There is no clue to the former ownership except that they were found in a desk once owned by Mr. Baker's father.

For the collector of rare and authentic records, the above deeds are significant treasures of value, as they portray important eras of the New World in the Old Dominion.

There are connecting links of royal proprietorship in the New World,when Washington, a lad of sixteen, left his home in Westmoreland county to enter upon the active career of a surveyor of lands in the employment of William Fairfax, the father of his brother's wife and manager of the great estate of Lord Fairfax, who was his cousin.

His work led him into the Alleghany valleys and hills, which were then a wild wilderness, where obstacles difficult to overcome and severe exposures to be endured gave the future leader of the American colonies an indomnitable assurance and gave insight into the danger of meeting the Indians, which he experienced in conciliation or encountered in the primitive regions.

For three successive years Washington persevered in this occupation, having from the President and Master of William and Mary College at Williamsburg obtained a commission to become public surveyor for Culpeper County. In this county office to which Young Washington's surveys were entitled a place, they were always held in high esteem for accuracy. At nineteen years of age the youthful surveyor received appointment as adjutant general, with the rank of major.

Grave years of the revolution followed, and twelve years of American independence had changed the English domain to a recognized republic in the year 1788; the deed now owned by Baker has been duly signed by Beverly Randolph, the Lieutenant-Governor for the Commonwealth of Virginia.

The youth who had gained the privilege of employment in the forests of the Old Dominion owned by a royal ruler in 1748 upon the moving drama of American life, has become the political pivot that in 1787 has declared itself worthy of his leadership—an idol of generations to follow.

It is creditable to believe that Alleghany region subsequently belonged to General Washington, for on August 20, 1773, he advertised at length in the Maryland Journal and Baltimore Advertiser offering to lease 20,000 acres to settlers.

HONORING JEFFERSON DAVIS'S BIRTHDAY.

In all southern states the anniversary of the birth of Jefferson Davis, President of the late Southern Confederacy, has been honored in one way or another. The most interesting features of the observance will be tonight, when organizations which are keeping green the mounds of those who figured in the struggles of the confederacy will gather and listen to orations on the life and character of the great leader of the Lost Cause.

Alexandria will take an active part in thus honoring the memory of Jefferson Davis, and an appropriate program of exercises has been prepared for the gathering tonight in the Lee Camp Hall.

The Augusta Chronicle several years ago printed a short but very striking speech delivered at Mississippi City in 1888, by Jefferson Davis. It was one of Mr. Davis's last public utterances, for he died the next year. It follows:

"Mr. Chairman and Fellow-citizens: Ah, pardon me! The laws of the United States no longer permit me to designate you as fellow-citizens, but I am thankful that I may address you as my friends. I feel no regret that I stand before you this afternoon a man without a country, for my ambition lies buried in the grave of the Confederacy. There has been consigned not only my ambition, but the dogmas upon which that government was based. The faces I see before me are those of young men. Had I not known this I would not have appeared before you. Men in whose hands the destinies of our Southland lie, for love of her I break my silence to speak to you a few words of respectful admonition. The past is dead—let it bury its dead, its hopes and its aspirations, before you lies the future—a future full of golden promise, a future of expanding national glory, before which all the world shall stand amazed. Let me beseech you to lay aside all rancor, all bitter sectional feeling, and to take your places in the ranks of those who will bring about a consummation devoutly to be desired—a reunited country."

WHAT DOES THE COUNTY WANT?

The Board of Supervisors of Alexandria County has adopted a remarkable course to prevent the annexation of the county to the District of Columbia. It has boldly challenged Uncle Samuel to a battle in Uncle Samuel's courts to determine the validity of the Act of Retrocession.

We frankly confess that the situation is too deep for us; in the first place the only threat to test the question came through the Taft administration, and with the end of that administration, it seemed perfectly clear to every one except the Board of Supervisors and their advisers, that the chapter was closed and the danger of a test case past. Now, when the atmosphere is calm and peaceful and the countyites should be hoeing potatoes and raising corn, the Board of Supervisors start in to raise a disturbance and a fat crop of attorney's fees.

Has the county such a large surplus in its treasury that it revels in litigation, or is it in a hurry to be annexed to the District before it is annexed to Alexandria City? From the common sense point of view of the ignorant layman, it would appear to us that a renewed agitation would be the las thing that the county would desire. We can only conclude that the county is reluctant to relinquish the position in the spot-light which it has temporarily occupied during the discussion of the question, and the situation will certainly afford its prominent citizen a further opportunity to rise and shine.

Our conclusions, however, may be entirely wrong, and deduced from the aimless meanderings of the untrained mind, but we would feel better prepared to follow the line of reasoning that lead to the action of the Board, if we knew on whose advice that action was taken, or whether the Board figured the problem out all by their lonesome.

We feel a deep interest in this subject, because any ill-advised action taken by the county affects the City of Alexandria as well, and we think we can speak for practically every citizen of this city when we say that we are perfectly satisfied to leave at rest a question which we think was settled sixty years ago. Possibly our contemporaries in the county will be able to explain the reasons that induced what appears to us to have been a foolish play for publicity. In the meantime, we should like to hear from the candidates for the Legislature, as to whether they are really for or against annexation to the District, and if they are against it, whether they are for or against this proposed law suit of the Board of Supervisors, and why. This is a question in which both the city and county are vitally interested.

DEMOCRATS ASSIGNED TO COMMITTEE PLACES.

The assignment of the Democrats in the House of Representatives to committee places, as announced by the Democratic caucus yesterday afternoon, caused little surprise among those who have followed our national law-makers in the lower house during the last two sessions. The rule of seniority has been uniformly adhered to, and the important committees show little change in membership.

Virginians may be justly proud of the places secured by their congressmen. With the possible exception of Alabama, no state is so strongly intrenched in the lower house. Four prominent chairmanships are held by the nine Virginia Democrats, and there is no member of the delegation who is not serving upon some committee whose work is of paramount importance in the national legislature.

Carter Glass, as chairman of the committee on Banking and Currency, is slated for a role of great importance to the nation when the administration's bill for a change in the currency is presented. James Hay heads the military affairs committee. Henry D. Flood leads the important committee on foreign affairs, which, in view of the foreign policy apparently agreed upon by the President and the state department, may be called upon to undertake work of an unusually important character. William A. Jones, as chairman of the committee on insular affairs, has already drafted a bill for the maintenance and government of the Phillipines and for the ultimate independence of these island possesions.

In addition to these chairmanships Virginia is well fortified with other assignments to important places. Charles C Carlin is now third in order of seniority on the powerful judiciary committee. Voluntarily relinuishing a place on appropriations, E. W. Saunders has become ranking member of the new and much sought after committee on roads, in addition to holding a place on Merchant Marine and Fisheries. E. E. Holland is in a position of prominence on Post Office and Post Roads.

The two new members of the delegation, Ex-Governor Montague and Walter A. Watson have secured places where their well-known abilities can be readily demonstrated, the former on interestate and foreign commerce, of so much importance at the present day, and the latter on territories and labor.,

It has taken democratic success at the polls to bring Virginia into her own. Faithful to the party conceived and born within her borders, staunch in her faith in the principles of her own distinguished Jefferson, she has never wavered in defeat, never abandoned hope for the return to power that she has seen accomplished, and is now fully prepared for the honor and responsibility which is her portion. That we are well represented by capable men in the House of Representaives can hardly be doubted, when so much consideration has been shown them by their party caucus.

In class statistics at Princeton University ninety-seven seniors state That's the misfortune of placing large Thit's the misfortune of placing large universities in small towns.It is a safe bet that there are not ninety-seven girls in that village who could make this statement.

Whag is sauce for the goose should be sauce for the gander. The next time they have that drunk and disorderly charge against you, pull that doctor's certificate gag.

A Milwaukee man laughed sixteen hours over a stage joke. There is always somebody ready to give those near comedians renewed hope.

Blease may be impeached, says a South Carolina news heading. Joyful tidings, indeed, but we bet the guy who wrote it either did so anonymously or just before he left the state.

There is an insistant demand that preachers stop preaching hell-fire. That is right. These unpleasant topics should be avoided as far as possible.

By the time they get through with that senatorial investigation of the insidious lobby, will discover that there is not and never has been a single ferocious lobbyist in captivity.

WOMAN'S SAD CONDITION.

Deranged Mother is Found Ill With Child.

Petersburg, Va., June 3.—Mrs. James Fleischman, of Dunn, N. C., was taken into the Petersburg Hospital Saturday evening under peculiar sad conditions. Mrs. Fleischman left home with her little daughter to visit relatives in Washington, D. C. On her arrival in Petersburg, however, at an early hour she left the train at the Washington street station with the intention as she afterward stated of returning home instead of going on to Washington. Seeing her lonely and apparently distressed condition, Police Officer Avery suggested that she go to the Shirley Hotel to remain until she could leave for home. She went to the hotel and registered and was given a room.

She subsequently left the hotel, went back toward the station and thence wandered about the streets until late in the evening she was found outside the Petersburg Hospital with her child clasped in her arms, her mind unbalanced, and unable to give any account of herself. She was taken into the hospital and ministered to. Her husband was notified and came to Petersburg Sunday to look after his wife, and her relatives in Washington were also notified of her condition. She is still in the hospital awaiting the coming of relatives from Washington who are expected today to take her to that city.

POURED BUNGALOWS POPULAR.

New Type Houses at Virginia Highlands Sold Before Completion.

A. S. Doniphan, president of the Fairfax and Cameron Apartment House Companies of Alexandria, has taken up the building of poured houses at Virginia Highlands. The construction on the first three sample houses began in April, and are of the bungalow style, planned especially to reduce house work; the first one was sold a few days ago to Mr. A. J. Peeding, before it could be completed, who will occupy this new unique home at once. These new type homes are low in their first cost, as the selling price is from $1,500 to $3,000. One of the greatest advantages in this type of construction, is that upkeep, painting, and repair are largely eliminated, as well as the fire-risk, as the first cost is the only considerable cost. Many of these houses at Virginia Highlands have now been occupied nearly three years, and have proven perfectly dry and satisfactory in every particular. Contracts are already in hand for some 10 or more attractive houses to be built during the coming season.

This new development in Virginia Highlands has filled a considerable need in the supplying of inexpensive, yet artistic houses at a low figure. This has proved attractive on account of its proximity to the city being only 12 minutes ride, and is beautifully located on the Virginia Hills, south of Arlington. This new suburb is now opening it's third year under new management; some 25 houses have been built during the past two years; many improvements, such as spring water, electric current for cooking have been installed; several miles of side-walk laid and street work done. An active season in sales has already begun.

A score or more workmen were buried yesterday at Saragossa, Spain in the collapse of a building that had been struck by lightning.

ROUND WORLD IN BARREL.

Two Blacksmiths From Venice Are Making A Unique Journey.

There seems to be no limit to the foolish things some people will do for sake of a wager. Early in 1910 two Venetian brothers named Vinelol, blacksmiths by trade, made a bet that they would travel around the world in a barrel. Durin gthe month of June they duly set out from Venice and later arrived at Berlin, where they received a nenthusiastic reception. The barrel was a special construction, open at the end and having a "perch" inside so constructed as to remain always upright. On this one brother sits while the other trundles the barrel along. Feed is stored along the sides, and at night, if no other shelter is available, both brothers sleep in their queer rolling home. The yestimate that the trip around the world will occupy at least 12 years of barrel-trunding to do before years of barrel-trunding to do before they can claim their bet. Wide-World Magazine.

For RoofS

Why Security Wide-Weld Roofing Meets All the Requirements of the Good Roof

What These Requirements Are

The Good Roof first of all should be weather-proof.

It should be a protection and not an element of danger in case of fire.

It should be durable and wear for years without needing repairs.

It should not have to be painted in order to preserve it.

It should not absorb moisture, or be subject to influence of climatic changes that will produce warping, shrinking, splitting, cracking,, breaking, pulling out of nails, tearing of material, channeling or other troubles.

It should be uniform in quality since it cannot be stronger than its weakest point.

All nails should be covered in such a way they cannot rust or break off, make holes through the roof and cause leaks.

Joints should be reduced to a minimum and be permanently water-tight.

The roof should be economical—in other words the cost of securing these advantages should not be excessive.

Security Wide Weld Roofing possesses all these requirements of the Good Roof. Order of VICTIM ARRESTED.

Woman Lashes Club Manager on Village Street.

Winsted, Conn., June 3.—Because he broke her horsewhip and hurled the pieces in her face and then gave her a violent push, after she had lashed him several times on the head and face with the whip, Mrs. Fitch Millard, young wife of a farmer in Falls Village, caused the arrest of E. J. House, manager of the exclusive Hollenback Club in Lime Rock. The accused is under $100 bonds to appear Wednesday before Justice Miles Blodgett, in Falls Village.

A dog belonging to Mrs. Millard made itself obnoxious to ouse as he was driving past the Millard place and House chastised it with his horsewhip. When House and Mrs. Millard met on the sidewalk near the hotel in Falls Village a few evenings ago the woman admonished House who resented the "calling down." The horsewhipping followed, while the villagers looked on. Some of the latter will be called as witnesses at the hearing.

WANTS MORE INCOME.

By Counsel, Appears in New York Tribunal in Effort to get More Revenue From His Estate.

New York, June 3.—John Armstrong Chaloner, author of "Who's Looney Now?" appeared by court yesterday in the special term of the Supreme Court to move to have his annual income of $16,000 doubled.

Frederick W. Ware, a former assemblyman, is acting as Chaloner's attorney, and made the motion on the ground that his client's estate is increasing every year, and now earns a yearly income of $112,000.

He says that Chaloner wants the larger allowance to pay the heirs of his former attorneys, who have since died, and to use for the purpose of obtaining better legislation regarding insanity. He also said Chaloner had founded the Mass Meeting Club in Richmond, which is devoting itself to the aiding young girls. Chaloner, the lawyer said, would like more money to spend in this work.

Chaloner also wants $1,000 to publish another edition of his book of poems. The demand for this little book has been flattering. The poet scorns lowering his art into the sordid depths of commercialism, Ware explained, and will not permit his book to be sold. He must give it away, and the supply has been exhausted.

It was learned that Chaloner has a strong aversion to Tammany Hall. It is because of this aversion, it was said, Chaloner refused to continue his fight for freedom in the New York courts.

'Even though Chaloner should obtain his liberty in this state," said Ware, "I feel quite positive he will not live here. He is perfectly happy in Virginia. Everybody down there loves and respects him. In fact, everyone hopes he will not succeed in having the committee appointed to care for his person and estate withdrawn, for fear he will leave Virginia.

THE HEETER CASE.

Accused to be Granted Public Trial By Board of Education.

Pittsburg, June 3.—On the initiative of a woman, S. L. Heeter, superintendent of public schools, who was found guilty of charges of immorality today by a committee of six citizens, escaped immediate dismissal, and will be given another chance, before the Board of Education, to vindicate himself.

Heeter has already been acquitted in the courts of serious charges, brought against him by a woman rofmerly in his employ. This outcome of his case enraged public opinion and a strike of the school children; suported by their parents, followed late in April.

So serious a situation was thus created, that the board of education consented to an appointment of a citizens' to try Heeter on charges of her than those which he had been charged with at the court trial. The committee reported today, finding Heeter guilty of improper conduct against Mrs. W., a former stenographer in his office; Miss—a teacher in the public schools, and Miss X., a former domestic in his home. The names of the three women are in the possesion of the board, but are withheld from this public. With the reading of the report a motion was made to expel the superintendent at once.

It was then that Miss Beulah Kennard, member of the board, and head of the Pittsburg Playgrounds Association, launched her surprise. Securing the floor, she said:

"I wish to make a statement that have gained positive evidence that at least one of the charges against Mr. Heeter resulted from coercion and collusion. I believe he should have an immediate public hearing by this board." The nshe sat down and N. R. Criss, chairman of the finance committee, moved that a public hearing be granted the school head under the rules of the school code.

Charged With Murder.

George E. Schall, formerly a sergeant in the hospital corps, United States army, was arrested at Vancouver, Wash., yesterday charged with the murder of his wife and three children at the Presidio, San Francisco, last April. The bodies were found in the ruins of Schall's home in the non-commissioned officers' cantonment, which was destroyed by fire.

Schall had said his wife and children had been killed with an axe by some person unknown to him and the house set on fire.

It is learned that Schall had insured the members of his family for $100 each a few days beore the fire.
